VOL. XXVIII.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, MARCH 9, 1900, 9 A. M.

NO. 3

CRAB ORCHARD.

Scott Harris is slowly improving. Mr. Logan's saw mill is undergoing some needed repairs and will soon be ready for service again.

There is an immense amount of lumber at the lumber yard near the depot and Mr. T. M. Coodor is shipping a large number of fine logs. There are also a great many locust posts ready for shipment.

The ladies of the C. W. B. M., of this place, have been cordially invited to an entertainment to be given by Miss Annie H. Shanks, of Stafoford, and nothing preventing, it will afford them great pleasure to accept the kind invitation.

The family and immediate relations of the late Mr. Sam Holman desire to express their sincere thanks to the many friends who ministered in many ways, bestowing numerous favors and attentions to the family during the illness of Mr. Holman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cook left Tuesday for Indianapolis. The many friends of Mrs. Gormley, mother of Mrs. Cook, deeply sympathize with her in giving up her only remaining daughter, even though she gained a worthy son-in-law, but thus it is in this life.

Our friends are soon scattered, like roses in bloom. Some to the bridal and some to the tomb.

Mr. Holman Stuart, of Corbin, and Mr. Carpenter Stuart, of Halsey, visited their father, Wm. Stuart, on Saturday and Sunday last. Dr. and Mrs. Cooper, of Livingston, returned home in the early part of the week after spending a few days with Charles Redd and family. W. A. Beazley, who has been quite ill, is considerably improved. After a prolonged visit, taking in Somerset, Danville, Parksville and Stanford, Miss Bettie Higgins is once more among her home friends. Mr. Dan Holman is steadily improving and is able to be out in pleasant weather.

Mrs. Little King will leave Monday for Louisville to lay in a full stock of millinery goods. Mr. Will James is absent on a business trip to Cincinnati.

Mrs. Capt. Dillon has gone to Camp Nelson to see her husband. Mrs. T. J. Cullon and children have returned from Madison county and are now "at home" to their friends. Mr. J. Hays went over to Richmond some days ago and brought back quite a nice drove of cattle. Mr. and Mrs. Livingston Andrews, of Corbin, are visiting the family of Mr. Perry King. Mr. and Mrs. Jones, of Howland, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jones.

Quite a genteel looking man called at the house of Mrs. C. Riemert a few evenings since and asked permission to spend the night. She told him she couldn't keep him, to which he responded that she could share her money with him. She replied that she had none, and he answered by asking her what she had done with her pension money she had just drawn—he must have some of that. She told him who kept no money about the house, but could give him something to eat, if he wished it. He said he wanted no food, but must have her money. He said he knew she had five comfortable beds in the house and he would stay all night. He also spoke unkindly of her son, Adam, who is in Florida for his health, whereupon she sprang for a large stick near by, and raising it over his head, ordered him out of the house. Seeing she meant business, he ran out immediately and has not been seen or heard from since. He had evidently been secreted about the house as he knew the number of beds and other articles about the house.

LIBERTY.

G. B. Wilkinson has sold his property to Mr. Wheeler, of Casey's Creek, and gives possession at once.

Mr. Grant Elliott and Miss Celesta Troutbridge, surprised all, by eloping to Jeffersonville Sunday and being married.

Mrs. Coots and son, of Owensboro, are visiting the family of Wilson Coots. A. P. Young has had a relapse and is quite sick again. Mr. and Mrs. Rudd McCormack visited relatives in town this week. The newly married couple, though young, seem to have made a happy union, and may they ever be as happy and contented as they now are, is the wish of their many friends. Mrs. John Wesley and Miss Blanche Elliott have been the guest of Mrs. Dr. Dye several days this week. J. Boylo Stone, after a month's stay in Nebraska, has returned home. He was very much pleased with the State.

PREVENTED A TRAGEDY.

Timely information given Mrs. George Long, of New Straitsville, Ohio, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful rough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of rheumatism. Such cures are positive proof of the matchless merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at Penny's Drug Store.

A New York girl who invented peppermint chewing gum and made a fortune worth $300,000, is now a bride.

LANCASTER.

Mr. J. W. Poor has about 500 cattle on slop. He also has about 500 sheep. Miss Mary Welch of Nicholasville, is the guest of Misses Mattie and Sally Elkin.

Messrs. J. F. Cummins and William Severance, two of your best business men, came over to see our city Wednesday, being tired of life in a village. Undertaker W. O. Rigney tells me that the remains of W. O. Owsley were in a well preserved state when taken from the vault Wednesday evening and finally laid to rest. The body had been in the vault 11 days.

The local members of the G. A. R. have begun extensive preparations for the meeting here on May 24. Every citizen is expected to contribute in some way toward entertaining the noble old veterans.

The colored boy who stole the check from Mrs. H. C. Kauffman, waived examination and was sent back to jail. Judge Bureside held two colored boys in a bond of $100 each on the charge of stealing coal from Mr. G. M. Patterson's yards.

Considerable dissatisfaction is expressed here over the defeat of the Roberts local option bill. It was regarded as a measure favorable to the temperance cause, as whole counties are more apt to vote against the sale of liquor than certain precincts and towns are.

The many friends of Col. W. S. Miller, formerly one of our most enterprising citizens, now of Knoxville, were delighted to meet him here Thursday morning. He is still a sincere pure democrat and he says that if Tennessee is entitled to one governor, Kentucky is entitled to two.

The management of the Garrard Opera House should be congratulated on procuring J. C. Lewis' St. Plunkard troupe, which appeared last Monday night. A large crowd enjoyed the performance and it was highly entertaining from start to finish. Every feature was good and the leading characters were truly excellent.

A fight will be made to have the coming Congressional convention held here. We have a new hotel and opera house and we are well prepared to entertain the democracy of the 8th district. We have not had a convention in many years and our democrats have always been true to candidates named by other counties. Beside this they have fought against great odds for years and deserve this recognition. It is hoped all counties will agree to this.

The police court is grinding rapidly this week, with Judge E. Brown on the bench and Chief of Police Jas. Pierce, running in the law breakers. On Monday and Tuesday 12 colored men and boys confessed to the offense of crap shooting, for which they were fined $20 each and all but one sent to the work house. Twenty-three warrants against various parties are set for trial today, Thursday, and several for Friday, there being 70 in all, issued for the illicit sale of liquor. There are too many cases to report separately, but they will be reported as judgments are rendered. The last issued are Commonwealth warrants. Three cases are also set for Saturday on the charge of a breach of the peace.

Dr. and Mrs. William Burnett, of Jefferson county, are with her mother, Mrs. T. M. Arnold, who has been sick for some time. While out driving, Mrs. W. H. Moss reached for the line, which had fallen and fell breaking her arm, from which she is suffering considerably. Our representative, Mr. William Ray, was at home Sunday and he is sure of democratic success. Hon. R. H. Tomlinson went to Lexington and Mr. E. W. Norris went to Cincinnati on business. Miss Margaret Harrell, of Texas, is the guest of Misses Jennie and Fannie Parks, at Paint Lick. Mrs. J. A. Royston and daughter, Miss Mabel, were here on Tuesday. Miss Alma Lackey, of Gallatin, Tenn., a niece of our Mr. D. M. Lackey, will be sponsor at the Confederate reunion at Louisville.

Monday night during the St. Plunkard performance at the opera house, considerable excitement was created when Marshal Pierce, Deputy Sheriff Ward, Jaller Ross, J. I. Hamilton, Edwin Arnold and John Estes put three men from the opera house, claiming that they had become boisterous and unruly in the rear of the room. The show continued afterward, but the people expressed great indignation over such conduct. The citizens have determined to stand by the officers in the enforcement of the law. Warrants charging the parties with disturbing a lawful assembly, were issued and the trial is set for Saturday. Much interest is felt in the matter, and it is hoped that if proved guilty, their fine will be commensurate with their opportunities and their knowledge of right and wrong, which is sufficiently clear. If they are determined to sow wild oats, such occasions should be avoided. By special request, and for a good and sufficient reason their names are withheld. This is only an exception to the rule to publish the news fully, as the request would have been granted to any one under similar circumstances.

MT. VERNON.

S. W. Davis is making some improvements in his tanyard.

Hugh Miller is having built a small cottage in hotel yard for Judge Carter and wife.

Mumps are epidemic in this locality. The band boys are sporting new uniforms.

Rev. Ragan, of Proachersville, has a cow which gives eight gallons of milk per day. Bro. R. says this cow's calves have brought him $350.

The Turkish molester has secured permission to bring his harem to Washington. This is a rank piece of injustice to Representative Roberts and other American citizens.

Wm. H. Garrett is working in the harness shop of S. W. Davis. Mr. Garrett was a telegraph operator away back in '65 when he had charge of a "register" in an Ohio village.

J. T. Adams is the most progressive citizen in our community. Mrs. Sue Mullins was up from Livingston. R. B. Mullins is out "on the road." Dr. Lewis was over from Wildie. James Houk, Sr., has been quite feeble.

Rev. G. G. Ragan, who preaches here once a month, is 72 years old and the father of five sons, all preachers, one of them the presiding elder of this district. Preachersville takes its name from this family. Rev. Ragan will celebrate his golden wedding on April 8th.

Why doesn't one of the three churches proffer the use of their building to the Methodist people until they are able to put up one of their own? Have we grown more selfish after getting more churches? When we had but one church building here all denominations were privileged to use it.

The following post-offices must have been named during war times: Pistol, Gun, Rifle, Cannon, Canoe Ball, Powder Mills, Cap, Lead, Lance, Tomahawk, Bowie, Battery, Battle Ground, Killmore, Flag, Flagstaff, Bayonet, Shell, Warrior. California has Paradise and North Carolina, Desolation. Pennsylvania has Quay and Turpentine.

D. C. Poynter has been allowed a patent on his invention of a metal tip for vehicle spokes. The invention consists of a piece of metal two and half to three inches long tapering at the ends and made to width and thickness of felloe to which it is to be applied; in its center is a socket into which the spoke fits. When a wheel is fitted up with these tips it is claimed it has numerous advantages over others, among them is that in summer time that the expansion of the tips will equalize that of the tire and prevents tires from coming off.

MCCORMACK'S CHURCH.

Wm. Moser bought of his brother, John Moser, of Kingsville, a nice young horse for $60.

Mr. John S. McClure, of Pulaski, aged 87 years, will make his home with his daughters, Mrs. David Eubanks, of this place, and Mrs. Humphrey, of McKinney. Miss Annie Singleton, of Waynesburg, is visiting the family of Wm. Moser.

Uncle Sammie Helm tells us that his nephew, Pleasant Tucker, of Parksville, has lost his only child, Emma Cloyd, aged four years. His wife died a year ago, which leaves him doubly bereaved. His many friends and relatives in this section extend to him their heartfelt sympathy.

Wm. Luvsford is down with rheumatism. Mrs. Wm. Moser has been quite ill, but is improving. J. B. Bryson, wife and son, of the Lytle section, paid your correspondent a flying visit the first of the week. Mrs. Wm. McCormack and children, of the Givens neighborhood, visited her father, David Eubanks, Saturday and Sunday.

From a Western Colorado postmaster to the department at Washington: "Please except my resignation of p. m. of the government at this town I have been elected J of the peace & school commissioner said duties prevent me from biting off more than I can chew by try to kill three birds with 1 stone."

A double murderer, four times tried and thrice given the death penalty, has peacefully passed away in a Georgia jail. As the cause of his lamented taking off is not stated, we may reasonably infer that death was due to infirmities incidental to old age.—Louisville Times.

Gov. Gen. Davis, of Porto Rico, has asked for 500 tons of rice, codfish and bacon for the relief of the suffering people. He also suggests that if he could employ about 25,000 men on public works for three months the distress could be lifted over.

The Mississippi Senate has passed an anti mob law, taking away the office from a man who lets the prisoner be lynched.

Ed Coffman and Miss Maggie Black-enship were made one by Judge J. P. Bailey at the court-house Tuesday.

Jacob Chestnut, aged 62, was married to Ainley Dickens, a 17 year old girl at Washington, Ind. This is his fourth marriage and several grandchildren witnessed the ceremony.

Mrs. Thomas Dorsey, of Louisville, who buried a man supposed to be her husband last November, received a letter inclosing a money order from him. He is in Lincoln, Neb.

Thomas C. Yeager, who used to be in the livery business here, will be married April 4th, to Miss Hattie Johnson, of Canton, Mo. Mr. Yeager is in the furniture business at that place.

By invitation of Mrs. Joe Coffey, a reporter of the INTERIOR JOURNAL witnessed the marriage at the Veranda Hotel yesterday of her niece, Miss Mable Ballard, to Mr. Edward M. Bllick, Rev. Frank M. Allen officiating in a very impressive ceremony. Miss Ballard is a splendid specimen of womanhood, befittingly formed and comely of feature. She is a daughter of Capt. Tom Jim Ballard, of Rockcastle, who is a brother of Mrs. Coffey. The groom has a fine position as engineer on the Kentucky Central, with his home a Covington, and is said to be a very worthy young man. The relatives and friends present heartily congratulated the happy couple and then Mrs. Coffey led the way to an elegant lunch, which was greatly enjoyed.

POLITICIANS AND POLITICS.

Georgia republicans favor Gov. Bradley for vice president. Congressmen Harmer, of Philadelphia, who was serving his 11th term, died Tuesday.

Judge Brown refused to abdicate in favor of John Henry Wilson and the matter will be taken to the courts.

The nasty Louisville Dispatch, like all other republican papers, wants to see Harbeson defeated in the race for Senator in Kenton county. To hades with such papers.

Representative Underwood, of Alabama, was appointed to the vacancy on the committee on ways and means, which, it was understood, was originally reserved for Gen. Joseph Wheeler, had he returned to Congress.

Gov. Benton McMillin, of Tennessee, has announced his candidacy for reelection to that office. From his remarks in a speech at Pulaski, the inference was drawn that he would also be a candidate for Senator at the proper time.

WHO HAS THE RIGHT TO THE MONEY?

Each day's report from Frankfort contains a statement that Auditor Coulter, the democratic incumbent of that office, is in daily receipt of public revenue. Ordinarily this would not be considered an interesting item of news. At this juncture of affairs a payment of revenue to Auditor Coulter or ex-Auditor Sweeney may indicate more partisan feeling, or it may indicate a purpose to comply with the law. There are perhaps some officers who are withholding revenue because of honest doubt of duty. There are likely a greater number who are withholding because they don't know how the cat is going to jump, and are therefore afraid to take the responsibility of decision. To these two classes—the honest and the apprehensive—a few plain words. The INTERIOR JOURNAL is not a law journal nor is it editor a lawyer. In his depraver mood, he wishes he was, but mostly he is glad that he isn't. He does not, however, think that it takes much of a lawyer to see that the cat has already jumped; or, in other words, that no public officer is safe in paying to any one but Coulter, that no public officer complies with his official duty who refuses or fails to pay to Coulter.

The Reason.—When the State canvassing board gave Mr. Sweeney his certificate of election, it acted only on the face of the returns. Its action was limited to the ascertainment, by the simple process of addition and subtraction, of a mathematical fact. It had no power to investigate and did not investigate or decide any charge of election fraud or irregularity. With but little more than the automatic power of a counting machine, it issued to Mr. Sweeney a certificate of election. On this certificate Mr. Sweeney qualified as auditor. It gave to him what is called a prima facie right to hold the office. This does not mean a conclusive right. It is a right which may be assailed or disputed. It holds good only until a better right is shown in someone else. How is this better right to be shown? What processes are to be gone through with to make it appear? What tribunal is to decide the controversy between him who has the prima facie right and him who claims the better right? Everybody now knows the answers to these questions. A contest must be made, testimony must be heard and the contest board must decide. Coulter made the contest, the proof was taken and the board decided that Sweeney's prima facie right must yield to Coulter's better right. Now let be kept in mind that the act of the Legislature which created the canvassing board which gave Mr. Sweeney his certificate, is the same act which created the contest board which decided that Sweeney was not entitled to the certificate, and that this act has been held by the court of appeals to be constitutional.

Let it also be kept in mind that the court of appeals has also decided that the persons who compose the contest board are rightfully in office. Now when Mr. Sweeney was inducted into office on his mere certificate of election, it instantly became his right and duty to demand and receive the revenue of the State from its collecting officers. The revenue was properly paid to him and was properly disbursed by the treasurer on his warrant. No collecting officer could be required in any state of case to make these payments again. It matters not how faulty in law or fact may have been Mr. Sweeney's title to the office, he had the prima facie right until the contest board acted. Now that this board has acted and has decided in favor of Coulter, does it not appear too plain for reasonable disputation that he has the right to receive the revenue until some tribunal authorized by law to adjudicate the question shall decide against his right as awarded by the contest board? We democrats contend that there is no such tribunal known to the law; that the decision of the contest board is final. We do not know the contention of the republicans on this point, whether they will look beyond the board to the courts or to the militia. But it does not matter. The fact remains that a tribunal higher in power and authority than the canvassing board has decided for Coulter, and so long as the action of this tribunal is undisputed by any higher tribunal it must be confessed that Coulter is at least as much the auditor as Sweeney was on his certificate.

All collecting officers who paid revenue to Sweeney are protected in that payment, because up to a certain time no one had shown a better right to the office than he. Upon precisely the same principle and by the same line of reasoning, every collecting officer who pays to Coulter until some tribunal higher than the contest board decides against his claim, will be protected in his payment;—and this is true, even though Coulter shall in the sequel of this vexatious dispute, be ejected from the office.

REWARD COMMISSION PRO RATES AMOUNT.

MAJORITY IN CONGRESS AND PRESIDENT IN FULL ACCORD.

LOUISVILLE, Mar. 9th, 9 A. M.—The reward commission organized with Gen. Lewis chairman, and $5,000 offered for each principal or accessory, if number exceeds 10, $50,000 to be pro rated; $25,000 to be used for tracing clues and other $25,000 held as reserve fund.

Members of cabinet defined McKinley's Porto Rican tariff attitude and say it is all a mistake about his change of front. The president and Congress are in full accord and moved only by humanitarian principles. C. D.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL is disconsolate and refuses to be comforted. It usually bears its ills uncomplainingly and tells its troubles only to the policeman. But there are times when it must speak out or explode. That time has arrived and we rise with due apologies to state our grievance, and if you have tears to shed prepare to shed them now or go out in the wood shed as the minstrel would say. The Louisville Dispatch has cut us in its exchange list and that is why we weep. When the Louisville & Nashville cut us from its so-called free list and left us minus the coveted piece of paste board, which editors so much delight to possess, we bore our affliction with becoming resignation and without complaint, for we are able-bodied and healthy and can walk. But when the L. & N. Dispatch goes back on us, we are at the end of our rope and would in our extremity fain use it to shuff off our mortal coil, but for the fact that we want to live to see Beckham make the greatest governor Kentucky ever had and see the Dispatch whipped and scourged by democracy, come out in its real colors against Bryan and everything democratic.

ALL the amendments, offered for the purpose of destroying the efficacy of the McChord railroad anti-extortion bill, were voted down and after a notable struggle it was passed in its original shape 55 to 43, Blair, Armstrong and Grider voting with the republicans and Orr leaving the hall to dodge the issue. Besides the need for such a measure it had been incorporated in the democratic platform and its adoption is therefore doubly gratifying to all democrats. The L. & N. lobby worked like Trojans with its millions and other means known to those who ever attended a session of the Legislature; but not many, if any, of the present democratic members of the Legislature are for sale and it profited it nothing.

No man in Kentucky has raised himself higher to the estimation of democrats and other honest men than has Speaker South Trimble, of the lower house of the Kentucky Legislature. His leadership of the body during the most exciting and perilous session ever known in the State, has been firm, determined and superb, stamping him as a man of courage and nerve and a statesman of decided ability. He is a young man, but he is a very bright and brainy one, and his name will always be linked with the history of the State as one of its chiefest saviors in the hour of its greatest peril. Go up higher Speaker Trimble, you eminently deserve to.

THERE had been some misgivings about the position of Senator Triplett, of Daviess, but he rose to the requirements of the occasion, when he saw how Taylor was still bent on overriding law and order and ignoring the courts. His resolution to appropriate $100,000 to equip men to force the usurper to give up military supplies wrongly held and moved, shows that he is all right and that there should be really three of him as his name indicates, instead of one.

THE Louisville Commercial has passed into the hands of a number of republicans, including John W. Yerkes, W. S. Taylor, W. J. Deboe and Marshal A. D. James and will be even more hide bound and intensely partisan than ever. Roland B. Gelatt, a graduate of the Mark Hanna school of so-called statesmen, will continue to be editor-in-chief, but he will not make any more such breaks as caused the leaders to repudiate his utterances recently.

THE meeting held at Louisville to protest against the disfranchisement of the city was composed of republicans and sore headed democrats, and although largely attended, the whole thing smacked so much of the fact that the political trust was pulling the strings, that but little importance attaches to it. It was entirely too cut and dried.

THE latest suggestion is for Taylor to be temporary chairman of the National convention, but those who made it are evidently counting without their hosts. Taylor may be in jail then for complicity in the assassination of his political enemy.

THE Richmond Register is 35 years old and is as solid as the name of its editor.

Frankfort and the Legislature.

Senator Triplett's $100,000 bill was defeated 15 to 5.

Gov. Beckham will likely call an extra session of the Legislature in May. The House, by a strict party vote, killed the Haswell bill to repeal the Goebel law.

The House passed the Senate bill increasing to $5,000 the annual appropriation for the State Board of Health.

The Senate passed the Crenshaw School Book bill, similar in its provisions to the Chinn bill of last session.

The Senate committee on Foreign Relations wishes to pay ex-Queen Lil-luakalani $20,000 cash and $10,000 a year for life.

The Senate made it a felony, punishable with 10 to 20 years in the penitentiary to try to hold office as Taylor and his crowd are doing.

Jud Graham, the Frankfort undertaker, who embalmed Gov. Goebel, died from the effects of a cold contracted while attending his burial.

Owners of brood mares are talking about breeding and it is time stallion owners were figuring on advertising.

Something brought Taylor to his senses, and he ordered the shipment of military supplies to London to cease, besides having unloaded from the cars those ready to leave.

It is charged that Republican Leup-er Burk opened and answered a letter sent by Charles Williams, of Laurel county, to Sup't. of Public Schools McCloskey, and he may have to suffer for it.

Senator Farris presented a new school book bill which provides for county uniformity and the books to be bought from the lowest and best bidder. It is the bill prepared by the State Teachers' Association.

The Goebel-Taylor and Beckham-Marshall contest boards have finished their work. The total cost was about $15,000. The republican witness claims amount to $3,400, and the democratic $17,000. Over $11,000 will have to be paid by Messrs. Taylor and Marshall. The State's part is $2,900.

The Roberts local option bill was defeated in the Senate 12 to 8. Senator Farris in voting against it, said he had always been a temperance man and voted against whisky, but when he got to Frankfort and found that the same men who fought Goebel were fighting for this bill he decided to vote against it.

Harlan Whitaker was held without bail for the murder of Gov. Goebel. It is not certain that he fired the shot, but the testimony showed that he is cognizant of the facts in connection with the assassination. It is claimed that the day before it occurred he sent this telegram to a man in Butler county: "The mule will cross the stream between 10 and 12 tomorrow."

Col. Jack Chinn has entered suit for damages against Mrs. Kate Banta, of Frankfort, for $25,000 for her libellous declaration that she saw him shoot Gov. Goebel. Judge Pryor and James Andrew Scott are his attorneys. He will also sue the Louisville Dispatch and New York World for publishing the story.

Mrs. Saffel has since made an abject and complete denial that she ever saw Col. Chinn shoot Goebel and says that any statement she may have made was without foundation and utterly untrue.

A minister in a Pennsylvania town on a recent Sunday surprised his audience by reading the following announcement from the pulpit: "The regular session of the Donkey club will be held as usual after the service. Members will line up just outside the church door, make remarks and stare at the ladies who pass, as is their custom. Any member known to escort a lady to church like a man and sit with her like a gentleman will be promptly expelled from membership." The effect was marvelous.

Progressive dinners appear to be popular in some parts of the west. A recent one in Janesville, Wis., is thus described: "At a dinner of six courses, in honor of a bride and groom, one course was served at each of six houses. The first house the party of 16 ate some oysters, put on their wraps and started for the soup house, half a mile away. After they were filled with soup and conversation they went to the fish place, and so on to the end."

In the course of an indignant "Personal" in the Atchison Globe, Mrs. P— says: "Mr. P— is mistaken in stating that I have left his bed and board, for he never furnished them. As to his warning about credit, if he ever had any I never discovered it in the 15 years I lived with him."

"In these days," Gen. Gordon once said sadly, "the race is for honors, not honor and for a New York newspaper praise."

A New York newspaper praise. Is it true? The most hopeless among us must admit that if true there are exceptions. In New York a few weeks ago, Miss Minnie Swarta, while out seeking work for the support of her younger brothers and sisters, came upon a great fire, and learned that a number of firemen had just been disabled. She ran to a neighboring grocery, bought a gallon of milk, had it heated and carried it to the exhausted firemen. Then she assisted the physician to revive those who were overcome by smoke. She climbed a fence, and with an ax made an opening for the men to drag in their hose, and then, discovering two wounded firemen slipping into a water-filled cellar, she held them each by a leg till help came and she herself was faint and exhausted. The fire commissioner, learning of this important assistance of this 18-year-old heroine, invited her to call at his office. In a heartfelt little speech he presented her, in the name of the grateful department, with a purse stuffed with bank notes. Tears came to the girl's eyes, but she put aside the purse. She was deeply touched and grateful, but she could not take money for doing what was her duty and a privilege as well. And in this resolve she has ever since persisted. It is said by spectators at the fire that while Miss Swarta worked so valiantly for hours, scores of able-bodied men stood outside the fire-line curiously looking on. A quick eye to see where one may be useful, an ability to act wisely in an emergency and sturdy refusal to be paid for it; these are refreshing attributes in either man or woman, and lift the humblest life out of the commonplace.

A greater rush than ever to Alaska is indicated this season, and mainly to American territory. In fact, Dawson City is inclined to migrate to Nome, and arrangements have been made to transfer its largest theater down the Yukon to the new seashore diggings. In the last two years prospectors have been looking over the agricultural resources of the territory, and are convinced that they are about the same as those of Europe in the latitude of Finland, a region that raises rye and barley for export. All the common vegetables have been raised in southeast Alaska. Wheat has been harvested there and grass is abundant and nutritious. Excellent wild fruits are found, including raspberries and two kinds of currants. The hardier vegetables have been grown as far north as Dawson. Some investigators report that Alaska in time will mainly produce its own food supply.

Complaints of the chronic of horrors with which the press, or a part of it, teems in this day and land, are perhaps well founded, but they are not new. In one of the earliest American papers, printed before Franklin began his editorial career, an apology for lack of good news was based on the ground that the English prints were "generally stuffed with robberies, cheats, fires, murders, bankruptcies, promotions of some and flogging of others." That was a century and three-quarters ago. It was no better than in those days, we are assured by no worse.

A physician at the meeting of the Jefferson County (N. Y.) Medical society recently made the statement that the decrease of compensation of physicians in recent years is due to the fact of the study of preventive medicine by the profession and the advancement of popular hygiene having so decreased the amount of illness. He thought that the improvement of health in the community was likely to be progressive. The society was of the doctor's way of thinking, for it warmly applauded his address and tendered him a vote of thanks.

Some three or four years ago a wealthy man of Chicago told a young woman that he would provide for life for a protégé of hers, a helpless man, if she would collect a million postage stamps. She had just done so, but in the meanwhile the helpless man has not only recovered his health, but has made a fortune of a quarter of a million, while the young woman's parents have died and left her in straitened circumstances.

Wu Ting Fang is the first Chinese minister to America able to converse in English. He has been interviewed by a reporter concerning his opinion of American women, and, being as yet a stranger to the particular brand of diplomacy needed in such cases, he said that "gentleness is not an American quality," and that he prefers the women of China to those of this country.

Recent reports say that interested parties in Hawaii have made such inroads into the public lands of that country since annexation that even Gen. Corbin cries out in his annual report that the United States must hasten to secure land enough for military and naval purposes.

Writing experts say that forgery can usually be detected because the imitator has certain characteristics of his own of which he is not aware.

Not Bribery, of Course. "Were you ever bribed?" asked the constituent. "Never!" replied the Montana legislator, emphatically. "No one ever has dared to even offer me money for my vote."

"I'm glad to hear you say that," said the constituent. "Of course," went on the legislator, "some one occasionally leaves a few thousand dollars in my room or slips a little money into my pocket, but no one would have the hardihood to hand me anything."—Chicago Post.

Youthful Patriotism. There is a small boy at Irlington, whose father is a Frenchman, but who, himself, was born in England, and has lived there all his life. Consequently, he considers himself to be an Englishman. He has recently gone to school and has been taking his first lessons in English history. The other night he looked up from his book, musingly, and said to his father: "Papa, we licked you awfully at the battle of Waterloo, didn't we?"—Tit-Bits.

Not an Exception. Little Niece—Do you eat tobacco? Uncle Wayback—No, I only chew it. "What's the use of chewin' anything if you don't eat it?" "I—I dunno." "Seems to me growin' people never know why they do half the things they do."—N. Y. Weekly.

Precedent. First Senator—It seems this new member paid $500,000 for his seat! It would be a dangerous precedent to accept his credentials. Second Senator—Decidedly! We cannot afford to countenance any such extortionate price as that!—Detroit Journal.

Wouldn't Be Obnoxious. "We've come ter tell yer, pardner," announced the spokesman of the vigilance committee, "that every cuss in town 'cep'n' yourself has agreed that it's time fer yer ter light out." "Ef that's the case, gentls," replied the tactician had man, "I'll move ter make it unanimous."—Philadelphia Record.

More Likely. Mrs. Kindheart—A poor tramp came here to-day who said he had been blown up by dynamite and lived to tell the story. I gave him a dinner and some of your old clothes. Her husband—I am afraid, my dear, that he deceived you. He probably tells the story to live.—N. Y. Journal.

Old Aristocrat. Mrs. Bonconstreet (of Boston)—Do your new neighbors belong to the new-rich class? Mrs. Porkenlard (of Chicago)—Dear me, no! They've had money for over six months.—Judge.

His Preference. "I don't care for your poem, 'The Song of the Lark,'" remarked the editor. The poet sighed wearily. "To tell the truth," he replied, "I myself much prefer the lay of the hen."—Philadelphia Record.

STORY OF A SLAVE. To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease in the worst form of slavery, Geo. D. Williams of Macomber, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been a helpmate for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved, and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle-working medicine has freed so many weak, sickly, run-down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Daily 50 cents. Sold by Henry, Huggitt.

There seems to be very little rhyme or reason in the relative position of cattle, hog and sheep values. While hogs are $1 higher than a year ago, sheep fully $1 higher and lambs $2 higher, the bulk of the best cattle are now $1 to $1.25 lower than they were the high point of the season, and lower than they were a year ago.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly filling to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Dr. J. C. Cheney's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure of the disease. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. J. C. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. Dr. Hall's Kidney Pills are the best.

It is very hard to stand idly by and see our dear ones suffer while awaiting the arrival of the doctor. An Albany, N. Y. dairyman called at a drug store there for a doctor to come and see his child, then very sick with croup. Not finding the doctor in, he left word for him to come at once on his return. He also bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which he had hoped would give some relief until the doctor should arrive. In a few hours he returned, saying the doctor need not come as the child was much better. The druggist, Mr. Otto Schulz, says the family has since recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their neighbors and friends until he has a constant demand for it from that part of the country. For sale by Craig & Hucker, druggists, Stanford, Ky.

With the democrats at home again in possession of the State government, a strong case against the conspirators who compassed the death of Goebel and a growing sentiment in favor of modifying the election law—not as good as its friends or as bad as its enemies said it was—there is no reason why we shouldn't assume that the Lord is still mindful of His own and that God's country will soon be rid forever of the minions of force, fraud and assassination.—Louisville Times.

My mother suffered with chronic diarrhoea for several months. She was attended by two physicians who at last pronounced her case hopeless. She procured one 25-cent bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and five doses gave her permanent relief. I take pleasure in recommending it as the best on the market.—Mrs. F. E. Watson, Alken, Ala. Sold by Craig & Hucker, druggists, Stanford, Ky.

Dewey was allowed $1,570 prize money for demolishing Montez's fleet, which is just half he claimed.

OUR GLORIOUS COUNTRY.

Have you watched its marvelous growth? If not, The Weekly Enquirer wants to study the strides it has made. The first census of the United States was taken in 1790. Since then every succeeding ten years. The result has been as follows:

Year.	Population.	Year.	Population.
1790.....	7,239,881	1880.....	31,443,321
1800.....	9,633,822	1870.....	38,558,371
1810.....	12,866,020	1860.....	50,155,783
1820.....	17,069,453	1850.....	62,822,250
1830.....	23,191,976

Here you have the figures of a basis of calculation. The problem now is: What will be the population of the United States, excluding recent acquisitions. The result is usually announced in July of the census year.
THE WEEKLY ENQUIRER is anxious to engage all in a study of their country. To this end it will distribute cash amounting to $25,000, for solutions received of the population of the United States Census, as follows:

To the first nearest correct guess received.	$3,000.00
To the second.....	1,500.00
To the third.....	750.00
To the fourth.....	500.00
To the fifth.....	250.00
To the sixth.....	200.00
To the seventh.....	150.00
To the next 10, each $100, amounting to.	1,000.00
To the next 10, each $50, amounting to.	2,500.00

AND AFTER

By Julia Truitt Bishop.

THE Woman in White had passed through a most triumphant day and was weary. She tossed her hat to a bed, her gloves and fan to a chair, and she herself dropped into the great willow rocker—a mass of fluffy white draperies, her deerlike head, with its crown of red-brown hair, lifted above the foam. The Woman in White had been younger, but she had never before been so beautiful.

Because she had won him—and because she had no right to him. Because he had once scorned and flouted
her, and had passed her with his wife
on his arm and a look of cold contempt in his eyes—and because now he had followed her for days and days, and she had made him sue for a kind word from her—her, the scorned and despised. Because she had laughed in his face and had baited and lured him until he had thrown to the winds his decent life and all the long years of uprightness and the position among men for which he had struggled, and was ready to follow her to the world's end.
And because he was the one man whose scorn had cut deep into what she called her soul.

She looked at the radiant thing in the mirror and laughed, and turned the flashing bracelet about and around on her wrist; and a something almost womanly came into her face as she realized that it was not the diamonds
she cared for—not she would have loved a ribbon if he had given it to her with that look on his face, and would have kissed it as she did this,
with a passionate delight.

And the Woman in Gray, standing in the door, saw her kissing the bracelet.
"May I talk with you a few minutes?" asked the Woman in Gray; and the Woman in White saw her reflection in the mirror. What she saw was a slender, gray-clad woman, with a pale,
pale face, and dark eyes with darker shadows under them, and brown hair that was beginning to whiten with early frost.

The Woman in White stared insolently at the reflection in the mirror and smiled.

"I don't know what my servants can be thinking of," she said, without turning. "I really have nothing for you, my good woman. Perhaps if you go down, some of my people will show you
the way out."

"But I must see you for a little while," said the Woman in Gray, putting aside the insult, and coming slowly nearer; and there was a deadly stillness about her as she drew a chair forward and sat down in it. Then they looked at each other—the Woman in Gray and the Woman in White.

"I think perhaps you know me," said
the Woman in Gray. "No doubt people have pointed me out to you as the wife of—"

"They have," said the Woman in White, haughtily, taking up a steel paper knife from the table near at hand and playing with it. "To what do I owe the honor of this visit?"

The Woman in Gray looked at the paper knife and smiled wearily.

"You mistake me," she said. "Some women might have thought of that—but you will live. See!—to-morrow I go upon a long journey; and I knew that I must see you face to face before I went."

"What possible interest can I have in your plans for traveling?" cried the Woman in White, contemptuously.

"Pray consult your dressmaker instead—and tell her for me that she should be killed if she ever dresses you in gray again. It is not becoming."

"You are bitter," said the Woman in Gray; "and we have so little time—and we are so near the tragedies of both our lives. A little while ago, I was bitter against you, too; but now I am too sad to be very bitter. I see how past remedy it is. I am not here to beg you to be merciful. Even if you wished, you couldn't give me back
what I have lost."

"Well, you have had your chance!"
cried the Woman in White. "And you have lost it! Who but yourself is to blame?"

The Woman in White had thrown prudence to the winds with that speech, and now rage and jealousy and insolent triumph were curiously blended in the beautiful face, and flushed in a red glow from the eyes.

"Yes—I have lost it," said the Woman in Gray. "And having learned this, past all doubt, I would not try to keep him if I could. I am going away, and he shall live his life in peace. I have merely come to ask you what kind of life it is going to be."

The Woman in White threw herself
back in her chair, and raised her beautiful arms above her head.

"Oh, you cold-blooded woman!" she cried, clasping her hands above the shining coil of her hair. "You joy wives that go your round of what you call 'duties,' and sew on buttons and have good dinners and sit at the head of the table, as interesting as that Dresden shepherdess, month after month and year after year, and then are shocked and outraged when he meets a flesh-and-blood woman and loves her! What kind of life will be have? Why, he will learn for the first time that life is alive! What right have women like you to talk about love!—
women who give a man up the first time he looks another way! Why, I would make myself the most beautiful and most attractive creature in the world to him, so that he could never even look at another woman—and then, if he looked, I would not go away
and leave him—I would kill him!"

She clutched the paper knife in her right hand—and lifted the left hand
and kissed again the flashing circlet
on the wrist.

The Woman in Gray looked at her,
and the sight was branded on her memory. When she spoke again, it was in lower tones. Her eyes were fixed on a ring—a loose, loose ring, that she was turning around on her finger.

"Perhaps we were mistaken about having loved each other," she said, absently, as though she were talking to herself. "We were both so young, and so ignorant. We were married earlier than we had intended—because my mother died, and I was left alone, and was such an unprotected child—and so we were married; and we agreed that we were to study together, because we were both so ambitious—for him. And perhaps I couldn't have kept pace with him, at my best; but I had to take him in sewing to help him along, so I hadn't much time—and in a little while he was away beyond me. I have never caught up with him since—but I have always gone on studying, so that I wouldn't quite disgrace him when he became a distinguished man."

The Woman in Gray stopped to put a delicate and tremulous hand to her throat.

"When he was studying law," she went on, presently, "his eyes were troubling him, and so I read aloud to him for many hours every day. Sometimes I almost wished his eyes would fall a little more—a great deal more,
so that he could be more dependent on me—for I was very young and ignorant then; and, you see, I thought I loved him."

The Woman in White did not speak.
She was sitting quite still, as though
she were a marble woman.

"And even away back at the first,"
the Woman in Gray went on, in that desolate self-communing, "when we were ignorant boy and girl together, we had quite settled it with ourselves that he was to be a distinguished man. We even made a little play of it, telling one another that people would one day point out with pride the poor little house where we had lived, and where we had so much trouble paying the rent; and then we would laugh so merrily—oh, where has the laughter all gone! And so we went on, looking forward always to the day when he would be famous, and working and planning for it—and I always pictured myself
so proud, so proud of his triumphs!

We cold-blooded women feel very deeply sometimes, and think long thoughts!
And now he has won the honors we dreamed of—and to-morrow I am going on a long journey!"

She slowly arose, and the marble Woman in White saw for the first time that she had a little package in her thin hand.

"I have something to leave with you,"
said the Woman in Gray; "something to give you. See, it is a little bundle of letters. They are the letters of an undeveloped and ignorant boy to a poor little girl. I have cherished them a long time—but I give them to you now, because—because they have already gone out of my life."

An hour afterward the Woman in White found that she had been alone for a long time, and that the last of the poor little letters was open in her hand. A withered rose had dropped from it and lay in her lap among the folds of fluffy white. The air was filled with the fragrance of the little old-time rose, which seemed to be part of the old-time boyish love, that was dead as the rose. Once, long ago, in her life also—

The radiant face of the Woman in White was pale and old and weary looking as she tied the letters in the packet again and laid this packeted line
upon them:

"Do not go on the long journey—for I go on a journey of my own." Then she slipped the bracelet into the velvet case and sealed and addressed it,
and called a servant to go on two errands.

"I am going away to-night, John,"
she said, as his foot hesitated on the stair. "Send Susan up to pack."

And then she stood in the middle of the room, her head drooped, pressing back something that tried to come to her eyes.

"And now for new fields," she said,
despairingly. "And the life in them?"

"But what are your objections to the

We are now ready to furnish coffins, caskets and hearse service. Beazley & Hays. IN HOC.—William Carson, colored, is in jail for stealing a buggy rug out of A. D. Root's buggy at the McKintick sale. Mr. Root missed the rug then but heard nothing of it till he saw Carson wrapped up in it the other day and he at once had him arrested. NEW ENTERPRISE.—Messrs J. A. Givens and D. C. Sipple have opened a tobacco prize business at McKintick and have bought a number of tobacco crops at 4 to 6c. This gives the farmers a market at home and will prove to be very convenient to raisers of the "weed" in the West End. SOME STAMPING.—A letter from Liberty to Stanford receives the stamp of four postmasters—Liberty, Hustonville, McKintick and Stanford, two more than those from the Philippine Islands receive. A postal card from Liberty is stamped so much that the receiver can scarcely read it. BURNED.—An eight-year-old daughter of Aaron Givens, colored, was perhaps fatally burned at her home in Hustonville Tuesday. She was subject to spasms and fell in the fire during one of them and was so badly burned before assistance arrived that it is thought she will die. Later—She died yesterday morning. POST-OFFICE ROBBER CAUGHT.—Deputy U. S. Marshal W. T. Short and Chief of Police J. H. Allman, of Richmond, were here yesterday on their way to Mt. Vernon with James Bly, who robbed the post-office at Gilbert Creek of $54.25 a few days since. Bly is a young Negro and admits the robbery. The gentlemen above caught him in Madison. THE Hustonville Minstrel Co. did not have a big house at McKintick Tuesday evening, but the boys composing the company all did well and the show they "put up" gave general satisfaction. In the cake walk Beecher Adams and Will Bishop "took the cake," defeating Howard Camnitz and Jack Pinkerton, who won at Hustonville. E. D. Kennedy, C. L. Crow and E. O. Singleton were the judges. ABRAHAM.—Mrs. Jessie Stag tells us that her aunt and only mother she ever knew, Miss Sidney Abraham, died Tuesday, aged 85, of indigestion, incident to one of her long life. She was a sister of the Abraham brothers of the East End and was an excellent old lady. She was a devoted Baptist for three-fourths of a century and a Christian in every sense. After a funeral service by Elder J. G. Livingston, a close neighbor and friend, the remains were laid away in the family burying ground Wednesday afternoon. We have received the certificates to be given subscribers to the Goebel monument fund, which those who have contributed can get by calling at this office. The subscription grows very slowly, we are ashamed to say. Many of those who we thought would be the first to respond have not done so and the showing is small. We had up to last report. $39.25 T. R. Walton, Atlanta, Ga., 1.00 T. J. Hill, 1.00 E. C. Walton, 2.00 J. L. Jones, 50 T. P. Tuttle, 50 Iko Tuttle, 50 POISONED.—J. S. Owsley, Jr., Commonwealth's attorney, was called to Mercer Wednesday to assist in the investigation of the poisoning of Mrs. Sam Downey. The circumstances point to one Fallowell, who lived in the family and who had become so infatuated with Mrs. Downey's 12-year-old sister that she had ordered him to leave the premises. An examination of Mrs. Downey's stomach by a chemist, disclosed arsenic and the coffee which she drank, in which it is supposed that Fallowell poisoned, was also found large quantities of arsenic. He had access to the kitchen and it is supposed he poisoned the woman for trying to make him leave. He is still at large.

Big line of gents' furnishings just received. J. P. Jones. NEW black gingham for pillow covers at Severance & Sons. A HOR will be given by the young men of town and Charley Carson's dancing class at Walton's Opera House tonight. RECKLESS.—Friends of O. P. Huffman, the butcher, are uneasy about him, fearing that he is getting reckless. He bought some hoppers of F. Reid the other day at 4c and he is going to kill them and sell the meat to his patrons. Our people are not used to such meat and much sickness may be expected. TWO HELD.—Leonard Smallwood and Hamp Gregg were held without bail at London for the murder of Millard Hughes. Ed Smallwood and daughter, Lizzie, were released from the charge of murder, but have other serious charges to answer. The London company of soldiers have been hunting for others implicated in the murder. THINKS HE HAS HIM.—Marshal J. A. Shannon, of Crab Orchard, was here yesterday en route to Augusta, to bring back Harry Gross, who, he thinks, robbed the postoffice here. About the time of the robbery, Gross left a horse and buggy at Curtis Gover's stable in Crab Orchard, and came to Rowland with Tom Pettus. He left him there and he was not seen afterwards. The horse and vehicle turned out to have been stolen from a Somerset man, so if Gross can not be convicted of the P. O. robbery, he can be for horse stealing. As a tramp he came to this county and married a nice young woman, and they were living at Augusta when Gross was arrested. LOGAN.—Strange as it may appear we did not hear of the death of Mr. Lucius S. Logan, at Danville, till just as we were going to press Tuesday, although it occurred Sunday. We knew him as a big hearted, generous man and sincerely sympathize with his wife, child and brothers. The Advocate says of him: Months ago he became a victim of rheumatism and it became complicated with the malady which was the immediate cause of his death. The past few days his decline was rapid. Mr. Logan was a son of the late John P. Logan and was 35 years of age. He leaves a widow, who was Miss Anna Croxton, daughter of Gen. John T. Croxton, and also a little girl, Caroline. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church. During his last illness he told them around him that he was at peace with his Maker and to his gentle merces consigned the bereaved wife and daughter. May they, and also the others who mourn the sad departure of one not yet in the prime of manhood, find that consolation which earth can not give but which is ever found in an unflinching faith in Him. UP AGAINST IT.—About Christmas time we came across a Western paper containing the Mosaic poem, which we clipped and intended using at once and offering prizes for correct answers to it. Each line was from a noted poet and we thought it would prove both interesting and instructive for our readers to name the author of each. We had the poem set up, but it was crowded out as many things usually are to give place to late news, and we did not find space for it till about 10 days ago. Before night of the same day it was published, two answers had come in and the strange part to us was that they were apparently correct. Since then they have been coming in right along, indicating that the senders too had come across a Western paper or some other containing the lines with the authors' names attached. A few days ago Mrs. Hettie J. Campbell, of Somerset, sent us a printed clipping of the poem, and Saturday Mrs. Chas. E. Cox sent us correct names, but modestly and honestly stated that she had not gotten them by research, but from the Courier Journal of the Sunday before, which printed the poem, but which we failed to see. As we did not propose to go dead against a game of heads you win and tails we lose, we must confide prizes to those who will write us that they found the authors' names by hunting up each and not by copying them from a newspaper or clipping. Honor bright now, please, tell us if you hunted up the names and if you did the prizes are yours, but the copyists are barred. The following have sent answers: Miss Annie Fish Gover, Turnersville; Mrs. W. W. Hays, Stanford; Lloyd M. Maret, Mt. Vernon; Mrs. Kate Egbert, Crab Orchard; H. B. McElroy, Brodhead; Miss Myrtle Cook, Flatwood; Miss Cooper Fuland, Stanford; Mrs. J. L. Yantis, Hustonville; J. F. Cook, Preachersville; Miss Ida Plore, Buckeye; Mrs. George L. Penny, Stanford; Mrs. Betty Johnson Campbell, Somerset; Miss Alma Wright, Turnersville; Miss Maggie M. Traylor, Gilberts Creek; Mrs. Georgia V. Burruss, Louisa, Va.; Mrs. Mildred Bailey, Pleasant Hill; Miss Jessie Brown, McKintick; Mrs. Julia Tanner, Liberty; Mrs. C. E. Cox, Stanford; Miss Dora T. Viars, Conway; Miss Nancy Givens, McKintick; W. K. Jones, Rankin. J. T. Bingham has sold conditionally to H. B. Cockrill, editor of the Pentecostal Herald, his farm near Preachersville, for $1,000.

A decree of divorce was entered in the case of Willis vs. Jennie Logan. Hall Anderson got a verdict of $350 against the Cincinnati Southern for killing two horses and setting fire to his grass and fences. Lewis Beard, who got the verdict rendered against him the first day of the court set aside, had a new trial for breach of the peace and got the same fine, $25. Tom Welch and Jim Graves were given a year each, yesterday, for stealing 141 bottles from Curtis Gover's stable. T. J. Culton and Hon. Fontaine F. Bobbitt defended them and the latter among other things, said in his speech: "Now, gentlemen of the jury, one of these defendants is of noble blood. His mother was a Bobbitt, his daddy a Hubble, akin to 'Horn Took,' his step-daddy was a Welch. If that Negro has any bad blood in him, it comes from his step daddy." Yesterday Robert Bowling was fined $50 for cutting Ed Brockman recently at Mrs. Crabtree's, detailed at the time in this paper. Mrs. Mary Shannon was granted a divorce from Wilhelm Shannon and the custody of their child. Tom Welch is on trial for stealing money from Miss Dishon. J. W. Brown, who was cut on the train near Junction City by Grady Montague, of Bell county, several weeks ago, failed to appear against him at his trial at Danville and the case was dismissed.
